LIFE AND OTHER STORIES

La casa è il luogo dove stratifica il vissuto dell’abitare, dove ogni cosa ha un ruolo definito e riconoscibile: orientamento funzionale, ma anche bandiera della memoria e porta metafisica verso altri luoghi e tempi. La risonanza tra le mura che definiscono spazi e ambienti, e gli arredi che chiosano puntuali funzioni e forma estetica, vibra secondo una frequenza per ciascuno unica e diversa: perché nessuno ha mai vissuto allo stesso modo un medesimo luogo. Ognuno trattiene una frazione dell’essere e dell’abitare, e quel che vediamo partecipa a quel che siamo. Non solo, ogni arredo e accessorio portano un proprio racconto personale: il disegno di un progetto, il materiale di finitura, una produzione fatta di arte e mestiere, intuizioni tecniche su esperienze artigianali. Tutte queste storie si fondono sul tappeto sonoro del luogo in cui sono calate, a cui si somma il nostro riflettere: come sismografi capaci di cogliere queste sottili frequenze, e disegnare un percorso evocativo sulle pagine uniche della nostra memoria. I luoghi dell’abitare sono densi anche quando essenziali, perché non sono mai pieni di cose, ma ricchi di storie: che aspettano solo di essere raccontate. E Tacchini svela la sua storia in questo luogo scolpito dal pieno e tolto del superfluo: dove ogni arredo completa il proprio racconto in silenzio, perché già narrato in ogni sua forma. E in silenzio, noi si ascolta.

LIFE AND OTHER STORIES

The house is where the experience of living is stratified, where everything has a defined and recognizable role: functional orientation, but also a testimony to memories, and a metaphysical door to other places and times. The resonance between the walls that define spaces and environments, and the furnishings that illustrate precise functions and aesthetic form, vibrates according to a frequency that is unique and different for each person because no one has ever experienced the same place in the same way. Everyone retains a fraction of being and living, and what we see participates in what we are. Not only that, each piece of furniture and accessory carries its own story: the design of a project, the finishing material, a production made of art and craft, and technical intuitions on artisanal experiences. All these stories blend harmoniously together where they are placed, to which our reflection is added: like seismographs capable of grasping these subtle frequencies and drawing an evocative path on the unique pages of our memory. Living spaces are dense even when essential because they are never full of things, but rich in stories: just waiting to be told. Tacchini reveals its story in this place sculpted from the solid and removed from the superfluous: each piece of furniture completes its own story in silence because it has already been narrated in all its forms. And in silence, we listen.

A photograph of a modern interior space. In the foreground, a light-colored, curved armchair with thin metal legs sits on a thick, shaggy white rug. To its right is a low, hexagonal wooden table made of stacked wood slices. On the wall behind them is a large, vertical abstract painting with dark, expressive brushstrokes on a light background. The wall itself has a textured, olive-green finish. A bright light source from the right creates a strong shadow on the rug.
